

Q300 Global Kids Activity Descriptions

Power To The People

Students will learn about current events, foreign policy, and human rights issues, and create projects to address issues they care about. Youth shape the content, structure, and goals of the program, and our expert staff gives them the confidence, skills, and tools they need to make an impact. This year we will be focusing heavily on college and career readiness. Students will learn financial literacy and how to prepare for the professional world.

Geeks Rule

Students are introduced to the concept of simple machines. Students are encouraged to look for examples in the classroom. Students then are taken on an expedition either around the school or, hopefully, outside in order to photograph (or sketch) simple machines in action. Groups will compile their photographs into an informative poster, illustrating the example and its technical term.

Games Around The World

Games Around the World is offered to participants to help youths establish healthy habit through cooking and team-building activities. Participants will develop critical life skills by establishing cultural relativism by playing games from different cultures and trying meals from around the world.

Chef's Corner

Exposing youth to international foods, healthy eating habits, and collaboration skills as they work together to follow recipes as well as develop their own. Students will learn about a variety of cuisines from different regions, explore nutrition and globalization, and analyze the history, significance, and relationship between food and culture. Students will also learn about food deserts, food access, and food security on a local and global level, and engage in a challenge/cook off.

Global Arts

Participants will have introductory and developmental experiences in drawing, painting, printmaking, DIY crafts, and art criticism. Specific drawing and painting techniques will be taught to depict ideas and/or emotions. Participants will also explore different forms of art from around the world and from different subcultures within our own communities. Overall, Global Arts will help participants build their confidence as artists and critical thinkers and will expand their knowledge base about art and the world, as they will have a wide variety of experiences in the visual arts.

Right To Play

Students will participate in organized physical activities that include games, team-building challenges, and sports. Students will learn basic rules and fundamentals of a specific sport or game from around the world. They will have the opportunity to practice the game and participate in friendly competition, deepening their knowledge of the game and learning what it takes to be successful. Students will develop skills related to physical health, including warm-ups, hydration, and safety, and will foster leadership skills including collaboration, communication, and sportsmanship.

Homework Lounge

Homework Lounger provides a space for participants to complete their homework, work on school projects and have time for independent reading. Participants are also able to work on assignments themselves or in a small groups. Students may also participate in guided literacy related to current news articles, self-started book clubs, and on going GK projects.

Future Stars

Participants will explore Academic Preparation: Studying, Creating study groups, identifying university supports, ie tutoring, writing center (scavenger hunting on a college trip). Portfolio Building, Bragging Sheet, High School/ College Application Survival Kit.

Game Zone

Game Zone provides participants a place to play competitive or cooperative board, table, and card games with each other. Students are encouraged to bring games from home to play with other students or they can play any of the games provided by Global Kids. The games played vary in difficulty and strategy, from simple to play and understand games like Uno to intricate and strategic games like Machi Koro. The Gaming Club provides the opportunity for students to meet new friends with similar interests and feel like they're part of a team.

Wellness Wednesday

Students participate in collaborative team-building exercises, brain teasers, challenges, & trivia that help build skills related to mindfulness, foster a sense of community in the Global Kids program and share their interests with others. Students will begin to grow skills in mindfulness and restoration by exploring wellness activities each week.
